DEDICATION

M. G. NICHOLSON

It is with pride and appreciation that the Men's Club dedicates this Directory to Madison G. Nicholson. He has given much of his time and energy as Treasurer of the First Methodist Church and Church school. He has been regular in attendance, dedicated in his devotion to his duties and exemplary in his habits. His pleasant and cheerful personality has beamed as surely as a strong light in the dark of night, and all through the years he has been a pillar of devotion in all matters concerning the Church. He has set a pattern for which all of us may strive, but few will attain. His unselfish, tireless labors in God's vineyards, and his zeal for his convictions are positive proof of his devout belief for God's work. His talents are many and all of them have been used to further the Kingdom of God on earth.

Message From the Pastor

The Methodist Men of our Church are bringing our Church Directory up to date this summer. The vigorous president of this Club has asked me to write again a pastoral letter to appear in the directory.

I look back to what was said in the earlier edition some three years ago. What I said then I believed so genuinely that there has been no change. If I must say something in a few paragraphs to the membership of our Church, that is still exactly what I want to say.

The four years we have worked together has in no way changed the truth of this message. We do have, however, more than ample evidence of its truth through the many experiences of God's grace which we have shared. Therefore, let me say again:

"This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses." These words were the text of the sermon preached at the founding of The Christian Church. Therefore, these words must be the foundation of the work we seek to do as a modern part of The Christian Church.

This Directory is ample proof that we have an active organization. We have able and active officers in each department of our church. We are doing the things we are supposed to do as a Methodist Church. We are raising large sums of money. We stand with the top-level churches when reports are turned in.

Of all this we are proud. For all this your pastor is grateful. The church is causing the community to take notice. We are doing our job as well, or better, than secular organizations in our town.

Uppermost in your pastor's mind and heart, however, is not pride in how we do our business, but pride in why we work at all. "We all are witnesses" to the fact of Jesus Christ. He has come to earth. He has revealed God to us. He makes possible the type life in us which God intends for us. He suffered and died. He rose from the dead. Because of this, our sins need not remain in our lives as guilt or as bondage. Because of this, our sufferings can be triumphantly transformed into good. Because of this, we need no longer live in fear of death, or any other thing.

"We all are witnesses" in so far as these truths of our faith become realities in our experience. This is why we have a church. This is why we do anything we do in and through the church.

So long as we continue as witnesses of Christ, God will continue to bless our church.

First Methodist Visitations

W. M. BARNETT

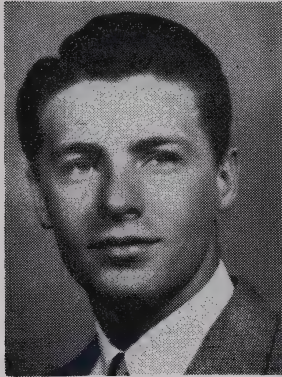

As one of the Ministers of the First Methodist Church my services extend into three most inspiring fields.

First, we always have a large number of Shut-Ins. Most of these are elderly people, though some are otherwise prevented from attending the Worship Services of the church. Many of this number have rendered great service to the church during their active lives. It is indeed inspiring to carry the church into their homes.

Second, we always have a number of sick in the hospitals. During such times they are away from home and from loved ones. These moments afford opportunities for the church through any of its members, certainly through the Associate Minister to stimulate hope and courage, to quiet nerves, to assist the patient in cooperating with the doctors, nurses, and with the natural powers that God has placed within our bodies.

Third, Athens is growing in population. Many new families are moving into our city. Methodists from other communities. Some are coming because of educational advantages, others because of business opportunities. Few come merely to join a particular church. Here again it become the high privilege of the Associate Minister to visit and "sell" to them the advantages of our church.

Christian Education at First Methodist

PAUL HANNA

Minister

“The Church is not a gallery for the exhibition of perfect Christians, but a school for the education of imperfect ones.”

And so here we gather, almost 1000 of us, each Sunday, so that we may continue to grow into God's grace and His Kingdom. Led by a corps of nearly 100 dedicated Christian workers we strive to reach these objectives of our Church School.

1. TO LOVE God in a deeper way than ever before by developing a better personal relationship with Him through Bible study and prayer, and by making our daily work and conversations more aware of His presence.

2. TO LOVE so warmly the children, the young people, and the adults with whom we work that they can learn God's love through us.

3. TO LOVE our work in Church School—to enjoy it so much that we find ourselves giving more time and energy to it than ever before.

Junior Church for Children

Our Junior Church program is an extended session of our Church School Program. It is another way in which the Church is endeavoring to help its members with the Christian Education of their children.

Realizing the difficulty of some young muscles and minds to stay quiet through the hour of worship in the Sanctuary, the church provides this service to parents who otherwise might have to go home with their children after the Sunday School hour.

The Junior Church is also a method of training our boys and girls in Churchmanship. Along with creative activities, Audio-Visual aids, and other teaching methods, we have a brief formal worship service using the Church Hymnal and portions of the Church Order of Worship. The children act as ushers, collectors and help in many ways from time to time in the worship service.

The weekly theme is taken from the regular Fourth grade Church School material with activities graded to meet the abilities of the children and that best implements the Church School lesson of the day.

The Junior Church assembles at 11 A. M. in the Primary Department on first floor of the Educational Building. Here we have a general introduction to the work of the hour. After a song or two the group breaks into grades to carry out the planned activities. At the conclusion of the activity period the total group assembles in the Parlor for their worship service.

During the activities period a small group of older boys and girls are detailed to prepare the parlor for the worship period and to help the leader with the selection of hymns and other worship materials.

Visitors are always welcome in Junior Church. We are especially happy to welcome parents of the children on any Sunday.

FOR YOUNGER CHILDREN there are two nurseries open during the church worship hour. Mrs. J. J. Prater keeps babies and children under three years in the Nursery Room, and Mrs. John D. Kilburn works with older pre-school boys and girls in the Kindergarten Room. Both are located on the ground floor of the Church Building. Juice and crackers are served at the beginning of the church hour.

Wesley Foundation

at First Methodist

HUGH McKEE
Minister

The Wesley Foundation and the First Methodist Church are of vital importance and significance to each other. When the students go home for holidays or vacation, there is a tremendous gap at Church. Without the Church the Wesley Foundation would be like an orphan child, having neither parental guidance nor sheltering care.

For many years the students on our campus have looked to the First Methodist Church for spiritual nurture, and in turn the Church has ministered to the needs of the students in a most adequate way. The term Wesley Foundation is broad in its scope, meaning "the work of the Methodist Church on the campus." This does not mean just the activities within the actual bounds of the campus, but includes whatever the Church does with and through students.

Neither is the term limited to any particular phase of work. Sunday School and Sunday evening fellowship are definitely parts of the Wesley Foundation, but not all of it. Church services, revivals, week-day activities, special services, and many other things are included.

The Church makes a great contribution to the lives of the students who allow it to do so. In return many of the students share the responsibilities of the congregation—by teaching in Sunday School, ushering, helping with week-night activities, providing one of the choirs, regular attendance, and in many other ways.

As Director of the Wesley Foundation and as Minister to the University, I am primarily responsible for this work. However, there is not a member of our staff from the ministers to the janitors who does not feel keenly his interest and concern for the students. And the congregation shares this feeling. May it ever be thus!

The Wesley Foundation is governed jointly by the Student Council listed above and the Board of Directors (formerly Campus-Church Relations Committee) below.

The Council has to do with the program of activity—including Sunday School, Vespers, public and private worship, Church attendance, fellowship, discussions, forums, Bible study, suppers, recreation, Choir, athletics, and various other interests.

The most important accomplishment during the past two years has been acquiring the Student Center.

Music at First Methodist Church

M. REGINALD SMITH, MINISTER OF MUSIC

Since September of 1952 a choir program has been evolving under the guidance and leadership of M. Reginald Smith, our Minister of Music, and his wife. This program embraces five choirs, giving an opportunity to sing good church music to all interested persons.

The Children's Choir is for children from 6 through 8 years of age. This Choir sings in the regular worship service on a few occasions each year, such as Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Eve, Palm Sunday, and Easter Sunday. However, they meet for rehearsal and instruction each Wednesday at 3:15 P. M., at which time they are taught some of the rudiments of music, are given help in reading, are encouraged to enjoy singing, and are led to an appreciation of the great privilege it is to sing God's praises in a church choir. This choir sings music in one part.

The Junior Choir is for boys and girls from the age of 9 until they begin to attend High School. The Junior Choir member may attend either the rehearsals each Tuesday at 3:15 P. M., or the rehearsals each Wednesday at 5 P. M. Both rehearsals are held each week, and the choice is provided due to many conflicting activities enjoyed after school by children of this age. This choir sings about once each month, and of course, on Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve, Palm Sunday, and Easter Sunday. The fundamentals of music are stressed along with an understanding of music in worship. This choir sings music in one and two parts.

The Youth Choir consists of boys and girls of High School age. They rehearse each Monday evening—the girls meeting at 6:30, and the boys at 7 P. M. Their rehearsals overlap, so that they practice apart and together each week. They sing music in 3 and in 4 parts—music of moderate difficulty. They sing often in the morning worship services, and contribute much to them. This choir has faithfully provided all the music for the 8:45 A. M. Sunday services this past season.

The Wesley Singers is an organization of students from the University of Georgia. They sing several times each month in the morning worship services. Recently they have been the backbone of the "Sunday Night Choir." This group meets each Tuesday at 6:30 P. M.

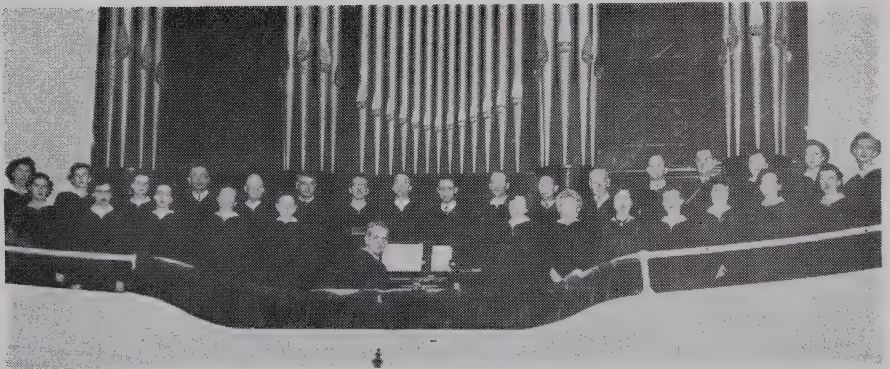

The Chancel Choir is made up of adults who make a real sacrifice of time and effort in order to make our services of worship meaningful. They rehearse every Wednesday at 8 P. M. and Sundays at 10:30 A. M. They sing at each 11:15 A. M. Sunday Service, and provide the congregation with several special musical worship services each year.

[°] Filling Unexpired Appointments

- History of Methodism in Athens -

By Robert C. Wilson — Church Historian

In 1785 the Legislature of Georgia granted a charter to an institution to be known as The University of Georgia when and if it were established and activated. Sixteen years elapsed before the institution was activated and the site on which it now stands was chosen. In 1801 instruction in the new institution began even though Indians occupied the territory surrounding Athens.

The lapse of sixteen years between the issuance of the charter of the University and the opening of the institution is explained by the poverty which prevailed in the State Government.

Methodist Urges Action In Starting University

It is an established fact however that the Rev. Hope Hull, an itinerant Methodist minister who operated out of Washington, Georgia, and covered most of the State, joined Abraham Baldwin and others in arousing the people to the necessity of activating the educational institution which had been created on paper. Hull, who preached the idea that, next to religion, education was the most important thing in life, was aided and abetted by his kinsman, General David Meriwether, who, even though a Methodist, was a man of considerable wealth. It was in General Meriwether's home that the first Methodist Conference to be held in Georgia was held in 1788.

Hope Hull, already a Methodist, joined the Conference shortly after the creation of The Methodist Episcopal Church of America at the Baltimore Conference in 1784. He became the close personal friend of Bishop Francis Asbury, traveled over the South with him, and came to Georgia as Bishop Asbury's personal representative. Dr. George G. Smith says of Hull: "Hope Hull, if not the father of Georgia Methodism, yet was the man who was second to no other in fostering it."

Hull Teaches at University

Having been instrumental in creating sentiment for the activation of the University, it is but natural that Hull and Meriwether should come to Athens to educate their sons, Hull with his sons Asbury and Henry, and Meriwether with James. This they did in 1803. Both Hull and Meriwether taught in the University, and Hull became one of its first Trustees, serving until his death in 1818. He preached on the campus in addition to his preaching in a log cabin which had been built for a church in 1804.

This log cabin was said to be the first Methodist Meeting House to be built west of the Oconee River. It was about 22 x 24 feet and "without a chimney," a fact which suggests that Methodism in Athens in these days went in Winter Quarters. This house was soon abandoned, and in 1810 a more commodious building was erected "in the environs of Athens" and known as Hull's Meeting House, likewise built of logs and which served as a place of worship until Hull's death.

In 1824 Mr. Thomas Hancock, having moved to Athens from Jefferson County in 1819, gave the plot of ground on which the present church building stands and a frame building was erected on the lot in 1825. This building was about forty feet square with a gallery on three sides which was to accommodate the negro membership. After a short while, this building, proving to be inadequate to accommodate the congregation, was enlarged by the addition of twenty feet on the west end and so stood until 1852 when the walls of the present building were laid and the building completed at a cost of approximately $6500. This included the steeple which now stands.

Present Building Known As "The Brick Church"

This building was known as "The Brick Church" and was a rectangle with the pulpit and organ occupying the place in the rear where the sliding doors now stand. In 1884 the extension at the west end was built to accommodate the Sunday School. No figures are available for the cost of that extension. In 1910 the pulpit and organ were moved to their present location, the Sunday School constructed as now standing, the galleries were added, the sliding doors installed, the two front doors now used for entrance were added and also the rear entrance doors.

The cost of this construction was approximately $25,000. The original building which housed the sanctuary had only the one entrance door, the one which now leads to the little room in the front of the church. A middle aisle led from the front door to the pulpit with "amen corners" on each side of the pulpit. There was a gallery where the pulpit and organ now stand which was to accommodate the negro membership.

The remodeled building of 1910 proved ample to house the congregation in the sanctuary and to accommodate an expanded Sunday School program until the post war era following World War II when consideration was given and plans laid toward enlarging the facilities of the church.

This resulted in the erection during 1951 and 1952 of the handsome addition known as the Educational Building, which houses a chapel, a portion of the Sunday School, the offices of the church, and other agencies and activities of the church. This was occupied in May 1952 and represents when completed and furnished an investment of approximately $250,000.

It is an interesting coincidence that this enlarged program should come just one hundred years following the erection of the walls of the main building in 1852, and that the new building should be occupied on the one hundredth anniversary of the death of Mr. Thomas Hancock the donor of the ground on which the church stands.

Location of "Hull's Meeting House" Not Known

Reference has been made to Hull's Meeting House and the fact that Hope Hull died in 1818. The location of the building is not known but it was evidently not in or near the center of the town for it is referred to as being "in the environs of Athens" and there is no record as to the ownership of the ground on which it stood. The building gradually fell into disuse following Hull's death which is but natural since there was no organized congregation to care for it and had not yet become a part of organized Methodism.

As previously stated, Mr. Thomas Hancock moved to Athens in 1819 and bought a number of lots of land from the University of Georgia on what is now known as Hancock Avenue. He built his home on the corner of Hancock Avenue and Lumpkin

Street on the lot now occupied by the Business College. He was a man of considerable property at that time and was a devout Methodist. Dr. Henry Hull, his contemporary, writes of Mr. Hancock: "Of whom and his excellent wife, the writer can only say that they were the most lovable and purest hearted old Methodist people he ever knew."

Following the abandonment of Hull's Meeting House, Methodism in Athens, according to Dr. G. G. Smith, an historian of that day, "almost perished." This serious condition evidently prompted Mr. Hancock to give a lot for the erection of a building which would be permanently owned by the church. He gave the lot immediately across the street from his home. The first building was erected on this lot in 1825, and, according to Dr. Smith again, was "the first house of worship of any name to be built in Athens."

Rev. Thomas Stanley First Minister

The Rev. Thomas Stanley, a local preacher and "Rector of the Female Academy" was placed in charge of the church for the remainder of that year. In 1826 Dr. Lovick Pierce was assigned by the Conference to the church as Pastor and reported to the conference at the end of the year as follows: "Membership, Whites 107, Colored 70 and a total collection of $9.41 from Athens and Madison." Dr. Pierce did not move to Athens but kept his home and family in Greensboro from which place he commuted to Athens via horseback twice a month.

Dr. Smith reports a wonderful revival in the Athens Church during the ministry of Rev. W. J. Parks (1844-45) in which "163 white members and 97 colored members joined the church." Following this revival, the colored membership had become so large that they demanded a church and pastor of their own, and the annual Conference sent Rev. John M. Bonnell, a white man, as their pastor.

Oconee Street Church Established About 1870

This was the first step toward expansion of Methodism in Athens, to be followed by the establishment of Oconee Street Methodist Church in about 1870, and Young Harris Church in 1909. There was evidently a close relationship between the colored and white Methodist churches, for, when the wooden building was removed from the present lot for the erection of the Brick Church, it was moved to West Hancock Avenue for use by the colored membership.

In about 1858 there was a great revival in this colored church under the preaching of Rev. H. N. Turner (later Bishop). Rev. W. J. Parks was pastor of First Methodist Church.

On December 20th 1828 the Governor of Georgia, John Forsyth, assented to "AN ACT INCORPORATING THE TRUSTEES OF THE PRESBYTERIAN AND METHODIST CHURCHES OF ATHENS IN CLARKE COUNTY." The Trustees named in the charter for the Methodist Church were, James Meriwether, William Lumpkin, Cicero Holt, Asbury Hull and Right Rogers. They were empowered to hold in trust for the proper use of the church all property, real and personal, which the church then owned or might thereafter acquire. These Trustees were given full power to fill vacancies on the Board as they might occur.

Just who promoted the idea of incorporating the church and the reasons for same are not known, but it is significant that James Meriwether and Asbury Hull, the sons of the founders of Methodism in Athens are among the Trustees named in the charter, and further that Rev. W. H. Potter (1875-78), a former pastor wrote that "Mr. Thomas Hancock, the donor of the property was a Trustee from the beginning." For the entire history of the church from 1828, it has operated under this rather unusual plan of organization even though as judged by a strict interpretation of the Methodist Discipline, the plan was unmethodistic.

Key Church in Georgia Methodism

The Conference authorities of that era accepted the church on a full fellowship basis without criticism of its status, and, it has through the years been recognized as a "key church" in Georgia Methodism. It has contributed its full share to the support of Methodism at home and abroad.

Great institutions find their beginning in the mind and heart of some individual in the form of a dream or vision "of what might be" and certainly this is true of Methodism. Each succeeding generation is called upon to play its part in the process of synthesis when once an institution is born. The process must continue through eternity until finally the institution represents the end product of the lives and the contributions of the people of all generations who have been identified with it.

The history of Methodism in Georgia, or in America, and that of First Methodist Church, Athens, Ga. is so intimately associated that consideration of the history of either is a reflection of the history of the other.

Among the pastors who have served First Church through the years will be found many who participated in the formulation and crystallization of the principles and doctrines of Methodism which is now an agency of national and international influence. Three early pastors of First Church, Andrews, Pierce and Key were later chosen as Bishops.

It was around Bishop Andrews and the fact that his wife owned a slave that the fight developed which resulted in the withdrawal of the Southern branch of the church from the parent church, a condition which continued for eighty or more years and was one of the great tragedies in the life of Methodism in America.

The quality of the lay-membership of the church has kept pace with the quality of the pastors who served it. From the beginning of the church to the present time, 1955, the members of First Methodist Church have been among the more important and prominent citizens of Athens and have contributed to the molding of the economic, social, educational and spiritual life of the community.

Facilities Available to Students

Through all the years of its life, the full facilities of the church have been available without stint to the students who have attended the educational institutions of Athens. At present the student work of the church has reached a peak of efficiency, activity and interest which bodes still greater things for the future.

The Woman's Work program of the church has kept pace with the other activities of the church. The quality and the quantity of their work and the enthusiasm accompanying it have through all the years been a challenge to the men of the church.

The Sunday School has been a contributing factor in the life and achievements of the church and has been the chief agency in bringing members into the church on profession of faith. Its work has been of such high quality and so well directed by Officers and Teachers alike that the new Sunday School Building, now designated as the Educational Building, constitutes a monument to them.

The expansion of the facilities of the Sunday School by the addition of a Minister of Education constitutes a forward step long needed in the church and will justify our full moral and financial support to the end that we may bring into the life of the church all of the young people from our Methodist homes.

The full history of a church can not be expressed in words but is written in the minds and hearts of the ministers who have served it and of the members whose lives have been spent in its service or glorified by its influence.

Since an institution such as a church is born of the dim and distant past, and while it is a throbbing agency of the present and will live on into eternity, all of us, pastors and members alike, must recognize that we are but incidents in its life. Under our Methodist system, whereby a pastor is assigned to a charge for one year at a time, he becomes more of a temporary incident than is true of the average layman since all or a large part of his life is spent in that church.

Laymen Have Important Role

We laymen look to the pastor for religious instruction and leadership, but, so far as the continuing life of the church is concerned, we laymen because of our more permanent status must assume the responsibility of carrying the work of the church forward, and, by our lives, exemplify to the world what the church teaches and stands for.

All of us, pastors and members alike, might profit by Cicero's statement:

"If we fail to make use of the knowledge and the labors of past ages, we will forever remain in the infancy of knowledge." We of the present generation, profiting by the knowledge and labors of our Methodist forbears in Athens First Church have the responsibility of passing on to succeeding generations those principles which will enable the church to expand its service in the cause of Christ.

There is a tablet in the vestibule of the church which bears the inscription:

"TO THE GLORY OF GOD AND IN MEMORY OF THOMAS HANCOCK." The writer knows of no more appropriate shibboleth to apply to and guide our beloved church than the phrase. "TO THE GLORY OF GOD." The old steeple of our church has been pointing into the heavens for one hundred years. May it through God's grace continue to touch the minds and hearts of all who see it with the thought "TO THE GLORY OF GOD!!"

Woman's Society of Christian Service

The purpose of the Woman's Society of Christian Service is to unite all the women of the church in Christian living and service, to help develop and support Christian work among women and children around the world, to develop the spiritual life, to study the needs of the world, to take part in such service activities as will strengthen the local church, and improve civic, community and world conditions.

The foundation is laid and the blueprints are made to include every woman who is a member of First Church, because it is the woman's organization which most adequately serves the needs of womanhood.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service as it is organized today is a development of more than seventy-five years. Methodist women organized in 1864 to do foreign missionary work with women and children. The first year one missionary was sent to China, and $4,000 was raised by a few scattered bands of women throughout the church. Societies and contributions increased, and missionaries were sent to establish schools and other lines of Christian service in many other countries. In 1886, in answer to the needs at home, the Women's Board of Home Missions was authorized at Louisville, and schools and settlements were established in the needy areas of our Southern Methodist territory. So two separate societies existed in the church-at-large and in First Methodist Church of Athens for many years. In 1910, however, the General Conference reorganized the missionary work into one Board of Missions, and in 1940 the name was changed to the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

At First Methodist Church in Athens today, our work goes on along these lines:

Spiritual Life — worship and study

Missionary Education — study of needs of our world

Christian Social Relations & Local Church Activities — work in our local church and community to meet its needs

Cradle Roll, Children, Youth & Student Work — to get missionary education into this group

Literature & Publications — sponsoring the two excellent magazines, World Outlook and The Methodist Woman, and other good reading material

Supply Work — to get needed supplies for mission projects

Status of Women — to study and recommend the progress of women

Shut-ins — to bring cheer to members at home

And various necessary committees to the organizational work.

This is the radius of our work in the Society as a whole, and in each of the circles which meet each month.

The study and service and prayer life of this Society will greatly enrich the life of any woman in the church. Its program is missionary, social, spiritual, and cultural. It creates new outlook and leads into a broad world service of which we can each one be a vital part. It enables us to carry out Jesus' plan that the people of every nation shall have the blessings of His Gospel.

The Methodist Men's Club

TOM JONES, President

The Methodist Men's Club is an organization which is dedicated, through cooperative effort, to do that which can be done efficiently, effectively, and through a deep spiritual effort. Since each man in our society is largely responsible for his position as the head of the household, and responsible leadership is expected of him, it is only right to expect from the men in the Methodist Church the support needed for the expansion of the work of the church.

The past success of this group of men can be attributed to a few outstanding individuals. First and foremost is our pastor, The Reverend Dow Kirkpatrick. Through his organizing ability he has placed in motion a vital force that extends through his associates and staff and touches the life of every family in the church. Our past is history and we can take pride in it. Our present is with us and the work is going forward. Now we must prepare for the future and each of us must ask God's help in undertaking the tasks assigned to him. We must strive to make the Methodist Men's Club a bulwark of strength that stands behind every effort of our church to reach those among us who have not yet arrived at a decision and found Christ as a saviour.

The objectives of the 1953 issue of the directory so clearly express our purpose that they are again published herein.

1. To seek daily Christ's way of life; to bear witness to this way in business dealings and social contacts; to engage in some definite Christian service.
2. To study and become familiar with the Methodist Church, its organization, and its doctrines.
3. To promote personal evangelism, especially among men and boys.
4. To develop Christian fellowship in the Church, especially among laymen, by promoting Christian understanding.
5. To co-operate with the Bishop, the District Superintendent, and the Pastor in promoting the program of the Church.
6. To co-operate with other units of Methodist Men in the promotion of District, Conference, and church-wide projects under the leadership of the General Board of Lay Activities.

This group of men meets with the Men's Club each month and following the meeting and program they visit prospective members inviting them to join with us in our church and its program.

The Fishermen's Club of your church is composed of the pastor and laymen who, in the spirit of Christ, seek regularly to win people to Christ and to church membership. The group is headed by Raymond E. Lester, a member of the official board of the church.

The group takes its inspiration from Jesus, who said to two men on the shore of Galilee, "Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men" (Mark 1:17). Today Jesus invites men and women to share in this great adventure, and commissions them to become "fishers of men," also. Modern visitors for Christ often return from such visitations rejoicing, as did the 70 of long ago, when they discover the joy of helping others find the way to Christ.

Purpose Of Methodist Neighbors

The approximately 1,500 resident members of First Methodist Church are divided into some 40 neighborhoods. In each of these neighborhoods, an individual or a couple has been chosen by the pastor to serve that neighborhood as The Methodist Neighbors.

These Methodist Neighbors keep in close touch with all other members of First Church in their neighborhood. When sickness or death visit the home, when there is a need for special pastoral attention, when a new Methodist family moves in, or a member Methodist moves out, these facts are reported to the church office. In the same way, the church telephones the Methodist Neighbor with similar information. Thus, the Neighbor is able to call in the name of the church.
